BAG ISLAND PRESENTS

MONDAY NIGHT BAGS

WEEK 7 • A PERFECT NIGHT, A FIRST-TIME FINALIST

Monday, November 9, 2026 • The Experience, Hauppauge, NY • KP Cornhole Fall 2026

TONIGHT'S HEADLINE

SAC STARS RUN THE TABLE

A brand-new name on the sheet went 8–0 and won the final 21–0 — while the #9 seed, City Slickers (Zack Colliton & Seth Catandella), knocked out the #1 seed and reached the first final in team history.

21–0	8–0	18	54
THE FINAL — SAC STARS OVER CITY	SAC STARS' PERFECT NIGHT	TEAMS ON THE SHEET	GAMES PLAYED MONDAY NIGHT

Produced by Bag Island • bagislandcornhole@gmail.com • Stats verified against the Scoreholio public dashboard

THE NIGHT IN NUMBERS

Round robin only: eighteen teams, four games apiece — three perfect starts, and a #9 seed the table badly misread.

36	1,114	30.9	3
ROUND-ROBIN GAMES	POINTS SCORED	POINTS PER GAME	TEAMS FINISHED 4–0

THE PERFECT THREE. Fire In the Hole (84 scored, 28 allowed), Nuttin Butt Hole and Sac Stars (both 84–41) all ran the table. Nuttin and Sac posted identical lines and took seeds #2 and #3. The bracket told them apart soon enough.

THE WALL. Fire allowed 28 points in four qualifying games — seven a game, the stingiest line of the night — and took the #1 seed. The bracket pages have the rest of that story.

THE MISLEADING NINE SEED. City Slickers went 2–2 and still outscored their opponents 69–46 — a +23 differential better than six teams seeded above them. Remember that line when you turn the page.

THE WINLESS THREE. Millviano, Mother Huskers and Corn Dogs all went 0–4. It wasn't the end of Mother Huskers' night — for the third straight week, a winless qualifier went and won a bracket game anyway.

THE LONG NIGHT. Corn Dogs scored ten points in four qualifying games, then drew the play-in. Some Mondays the boards just say no. Next Monday is a new Monday.

STANDINGS SNAPSHOT

THE TOP OF THE TABLE

#	TEAM	W–L	DIFF	SO FAR
1	Fire In the Hole	42–4	+568	3 titles
2	Rookies	26–12	+167	still #2 on volume
3	Da Boss	22–15	+86	Week 2 champs
4	Droppin Sacs	21–6	+246	Week 3 champs
5	Bags Of Fury	21–11	+141	two podiums

THE GAP. Fire's 42 wins are 16 clear of the field, and their +568 differential is more than double the next-best mark (Droppin Sacs, +246). Six weeks played, three titles.

THE TABLE VS. THE NIGHT. Week 7's finalists sit #15 and #6 in the season table — the table counts every Monday, not just the last one. The Movers panel is where tonight actually shows up.

THE MOVERS

▲ DA BOSS 5th → 3rd

Up two on 22 wins — even on a night that ended one point short.

▲ OUTSIDERS 10th → 8th

A third straight top-4 finish to open their league lives.

▲ CORN BREAD 15th → 13th

A 5th-place finish — their best since Week 3 — moves them up two.

▼ CORN STARS 7th → 9th

Down two without playing — a week off costs ground in a table this tight.

NEW: SAC STARS — IN AT #15

One night, 8–0, one title — the only unbeaten record in the league. Nobody else is 1.000.

THE BRACKET — THE EARLY ROUNDS

Two play-ins and a Round of 16 — where the closest game of the night nearly took out the #2 seed.

THE PLAY-INS, QUICKLY. Mother Huskers 21–5 over Millviano. Good Guys 3.0 (Ronald Vasquez & Brian Block) 21–0 over Corn Dogs — a shutout to open the bracket. Both winners earned a date with a top-two seed. One of them nearly made it the story of the fall.

THE ESCAPE — Nuttin Butt Hole 21, Good Guys 3.0 20. The #2 seed — 4–0 in qualifying — needed every single point against a play-in winner. John Plonski & Tyler Sottong survived by one. Hold that thought: they were about to do it again.

THE OTHER CLOSE ONE — More Butter 21, Maized and Confused 19. Joshua Collins, Jim Knott & Mike Tew pushed the #4 seed to the edge — two points from the quarterfinals, and the best fight a 1–3 qualifier put up all night.

THE SHUTOUT — Sac Stars 21, Bags Of Fury 0. The new name's first bracket game ended with a zero on the other side of the sheet. It would not be their last zero of the night. Scott Linzer & Brian Kelly's Bags Of Fury went home 9th.

THE REST OF THE ROUND. City Slickers beat Rookies 21–12 — the first hint the #9 seed came to play. The Outsiders (James Dinda & John Suss) rolled Average Bags 21–4. Da Boss (John Hagen & Joseph Jette) beat Notorious BAG 21–8, Corn Bread handled Breaking Bags (Eric Morgen & Dan McDonald) 21–6, and Fire In the Hole ended Mother Huskers' run 21–2.

THE BRACKET — DOWN TO BUSINESS

Quarterfinals and semifinals: the #1 seed falls, and a #9 seed walks into a final.

QUARTERFINALS

City Slickers 21, Fire In the Hole 6. The result of the night. Colliton & Catandella, the #9 seed, end the #1 seed's night in the quarterfinals. Fire's 5th-place finish is their first outside the podium places all fall.

Nuttin Butt Hole 21, Da Boss 20. One point — again. Plonski & Sottong win their second straight 21–20 game; Hagen & Jette take home the hardest loss of the night. Full honors on the Callouts page.

Sac Stars 21, Corn Bread 2. Two bracket games, two points allowed. The #3 seed is not here to participate.

The Outsiders 21, More Butter 12. Dinda & Suss, businesslike — a third straight semifinal in three weeks in this league.

SEMIFINALS & THE PODIUM GAME

City Slickers 21, The Outsiders 14. The run continues: after finishes of 5th, 5th, 5th, 5th and 17th, City Slickers are finalists for the first time.

Sac Stars 21, Nuttin Butt Hole 12. The one-point magic runs out. Nuttin score 12 — the most anyone hung on Sac Stars all night — and still lose by nine.

3rd place: The Outsiders 21, Nuttin Butt Hole 17. Dinda & Suss take the last podium spot. Nuttin settle for 4th — their best finish since Week 2 — after the wildest survival run of the fall.

THE FINAL

KP CORNHOLE FALL 2026 — WEEK 7 CHAMPIONSHIP

SAC STARS 21 – 0 CITY SLICKERS

The first 21–0 final of the fall — no championship game had ended in a shutout before tonight.

SAC STARS' ROAD

21–0 Bags Of Fury (R16)

21–2 Corn Bread (QF)

21–12 Nuttin Butt Hole (SF)

21–0 City Slickers (F)

Bracket line: 84 scored, 14 allowed.

CITY SLICKERS' ROAD — COLLITON & CATANDELLA

21–12 Rookies (R16)

21–6 Fire In the Hole (QF)

21–14 The Outsiders (SF)

0–21 Sac Stars (F)

Bracket line: 63 scored, 53 allowed.

THE TAKE. There are debuts, and then there is this: a team that wasn't on the sheet a week ago went 8–0, allowed 55 points across eight games, and closed the night by shutting out a finalist. Sac Stars own Week 7 outright. And City Slickers leave with the night's other headline — the team that knocked the #1 seed out before the semifinals and turned five weeks of 5th-place finishes into a final. The ending was a shutout. Everything City did to get there was real.

THE CALLOUTS

TEAM OF THE NIGHT

SAC STARS — A PERFECT FIRST NIGHT

8–0 on the night: 4–0 in qualifying, then 21–0, 21–2, 21–12 and 21–0 in the bracket — 84 bracket points scored, 14 allowed, and the first shutout final in league history. A new name on the sheet, and no learning curve whatsoever.

HEARTBREAK OF THE NIGHT

DA BOSS — HAGEN & JETTE

John Hagen & Joseph Jette handled Notorious BAG 21–8, then lost a quarterfinal 21–20 to Nuttin Butt Hole — one point from the semifinals. Runner-up heartbreak: Good Guys 3.0, who won their play-in 21–0 and then lost by the same single point, to the same team.

THE BREAKTHROUGH

CITY SLICKERS — COLLITON & CATANDELLA

Five weeks of finishes — 5th, 5th, 5th, 5th, 17th — and then a #9-seed run through Rookies, the #1 seed and the Outsiders to the first final in team history. The final was a shutout loss. The week was still theirs to remember.

WHAT'S NEXT — WEEK 8

Monday, November 16, 2026 • The Experience, Hauppauge, NY

THE ENCORE. Sac Stars went 8–0 in their first night on the sheet. Week 8 answers the only question left: takeover, or the greatest one-night stand in league history?

THE RESPONSE. Fire In the Hole finish outside the podium for the first time all fall — 5th, out in the quarterfinals. What the #1 seed does with a week of that hanging over them is appointment viewing.

CITY'S FOLLOW-UP. Colliton & Catandella finally broke the 5th-place ceiling — all the way to a final. Nobody in the building plays them as a #9 seed ever again.

ONE-POINT LIVING. Nuttin Butt Hole won back-to-back 21–20 games and still finished 4th. Plonski & Sottong are one bounce from a final — or from going home early. Possibly both, on the same night.

THE TOP-FIVE WATCH. Rookies' run of five straight top-5 finishes ended with a 9th in Week 7. The league's most consistent floor finally cracked — Monday is the response.

Corrections, callouts and Quote of the Night nominations: bagislandcornhole@gmail.com • See you Monday. — Bag Island